Power Construction Company, LLC builds better lives for youth in Naperville

Chicago, Ill. – June 26, 2018 – ChildServ, a nonprofit in Chicago dedicated to building better lives for children, recently partnered with 22 employees from Power Construction Company, LLC of Chicago to paint, landscape and organize its group home for teenage girls in Naperville.

“Our friends at Power Construction continue to make an impact in the lives of the youth in our care, sharing their time and talents so that our girls have a great place to live, learn and grow,” said Dan Kotowski, President and CEO of ChildServ. “We are grateful for their partnership and help in building better lives for our teens.”

“ChildServ is a wonderful organization that is able to provide support and resources for many children in the Chicagoland area,” said Shahara Byford, Vice President of Human Resources for Power Construction Company, LLC. “It is an organization that is able to intentionally impact a child’s future, and Power is proud to be a small part of that process.”

Power Construction Company is a 92-year-old, management-owned firm operating in and around the northern Illinois markets. The company’s “Power with Purpose” program seeks to impact people’s lives in concrete ways, including volunteering, raising funds, donating materials and coordinating special projects.

ChildServ operates three group homes in DuPage County, providing youth ages 12-18 with a safe, supportive environment so that they finish high school, receive life skills training and clinical services so that they become self-sufficient adults.
